INTRODUCTION

The 1981-82 ARL Statistics presents data compiled from the 113 research libraries that were members of the Association during the 1981-82 academic year. Of these, 101 are university libraries; the remaining 12 represent a mixture of public, governmental, and private research collections. A complete listing of ARL member libraries is provided in the "Guide to Library Code Numbers," (p. 7a).

The tables presented in the Statistics provide a description of research library resources, staffing, expenditures, and interlibrary loan activity in fiscal 1982. To examine changes in these measures over time, an analysis was performed on data for the fiscal years 1975-76 through 1981-82 from 90 ARL university libraries.[1] Results of the analysis indicate that trends observed in previous years continue. Total expenditures of these libraries have increased at an average rate of 9.0% per year since 1976. Expenditures for salaries and wages have kept pace with the Higher Education Price Index (HEPI)[2] while the aggregate staff size has remained relatively stable. The growth rate of these 90 libraries, as measured by the total number of volumes held, has averaged 3.1% per year. And, although expenditures for materials have risen an average of 9.2% per year, the number of serials subscriptions has increased only slightly (1.7% per year) and the number of volumes added each year has continued to decrease (2.7% per year).

The graph on the opposite page displays aggregate figures, converted to index numbers, for the expenditures of these 90 ARL university libraries, together with selected measures of the level of resources maintained: volumes added, serials subscriptions, and total staff. By far, the largest increases in the expenditures of these 90 libraries over the six year period have been for serials and for operations (exclusive of personnel, library materials, and day-to-day building maintenance); outlays for these two budget components have more than doubled since 1976. The rise in spending for serials is easy to account for, since price indexes demonstrate that price increases for periodical subscriptions have exceeded the rate of inflation for some years. (For example, journal prices were up by 14.5% in 1982,[3] while the Consumer Price Index rose 8.4% between January 1981 and January 1982.) It is more difficult to interpret the sharply rising costs of operations, since this category of expenditures has not been clearly defined in the ARL Statistics. In some libraries, capital outlays for automation are included; in others they are not. Some library budgets are charged for use of a central university computer; arrangements vary in other libraries. In general, supplies, equipment, contracted services, network charges, travel funds, telecommunications, postage, and a variety of other operating expenses are included, and more detailed data will be needed before the trend toward greatly increased operating expenditures can be explained fully for research libraries as a group.

A comparison of the index figures shown on the graph for fiscal 1981 with those for 1982 suggests possible shifts in some trends. While such fluctuations mean little over the period of a single year, they merit watching in future years. The most notable change in 1982 is the smaller rise in serials expenditures—7.0% in 1982 compared to an average of 14.0% per year for the preceding five years—and the concomitant steeper increase in expenditures for other materials—up 12.8% in 1982 compared to an average increase of 4.4% per year for the preceding five years. This apparent shift in materials allocations held true in a majority of the individual libraries as well as in the aggregate: 64 of the 90 libraries increased their serials expenditures less in fiscal 1982 than they had in the preceding year, and 52 of the libraries showed a larger increase in outlays for non-serials. However, the impact of this change is slight over only one year: in fiscal 1981 outlays for serials were 58% of materials expenditures as measured by the median percentage in the 90 libraries; in 1982 the median percentage was 57%.

Another apparent, and possibly related, change is the slowing decrease in the gross number of volumes added each year. The total number of volumes added in the 90 libraries fell 1.2% in 1982, as compared to a drop of 5.0% in 1981 and 7.1% in 1980. However, since this value generally measures volumes added to the shelves (i.e. cataloged) rather than new acquisitions, the change may represent special cataloging or accessioning projects rather than new purchases.

The overall level of interlibrary loan activity in the 90 libraries was also examined. (Interlibrary loan figures are not displayed on the graph.) The aggregate figures show a small but steady increase in the number of items borrowed: an average increase of 3.0% per year, with the 1982 total 19.5% larger than the number of items borrowed in fiscal 1976. This trend is consistent with reports in the library literature on the growth of network interlibrary loan systems and heightened interest in resource sharing in recent years. Lending activity, however, has not increased over the six years. The total number of items loaned by the 90 libraries was 2.0% less in fiscal 1982 than in 1976, decreasing an average of 0.3% each year. The median ratio of items loaned to items borrowed by the libraries has remained stable during the same time period—it was 2.49:1 in fiscal 1976 and 2.50:1 in fiscal 1982.

Those using the ARL Statistics to compare individual institutions will need to consult the symbols indicated in the "ARL Library Data Table" and the "Footnotes." While definitions used in the Statistics questionnaire are aimed at achieving consistency, a number of variant reporting practices do exist among ARL libraries. For example, while the majority of ARL libraries include government documents in their count of serials subscriptions, about one-third do not. Some ARL libraries catalog government documents and report them in their volume count; others do not. Symbols are used to indicate which ARL libraries include law and medical libraries in their reports. Separate counts of the holdings of law school libraries are published each year in the spring issue of Law Library Journal. Similar statistics for U.S. and Canadian medical school libraries are published annually by the Association of Academic Health Sciences Library Directors. To aid comparability, expenditures of Canadian libraries are expressed in U.S. dollars in the ARL Statistics; the exchange rate used for 1981-82 is 1.2143 Canadian dollars to one U.S. dollar.[4]

The rank order tables and index scores presented in this publication are in no way intended to imply qualitative evaluations of the institutions described. In comparing any individual library to ARL medians or to other ARL members, evaluations must always be made within the context of local goals and characteristics.

1. Data analysis performed by Kendon Stubbs. Libraries included are all those that have been ARL members since 1975-76 and which lack no more than one data value for the years covered. Figures used in this analysis include all reported errata and Canadian expenditures as converted to U.S. dollars using the rate appropriate for each year.

2. For a description of the HEPI see Higher Education Prices and Price Indexes: 1982 Update (Washington, D.C.: Research Associates, 1982). The observed relationship between the HEPI and library salary expenditures is not surprising since the HEPI is dominated by the trend in salaries for faculty and other academic personnel.

The institutions listed below are the 113 institutions that were members of the Association of Research Libraries in 1982. Each has been assigned a code number for use on the data tables on pages 8-17 in place of the names of the institutions. (See columns labeled "Library Code No." to the left of columns 1 and 12). Numbers 1-101 have been used to designate the 101 university library members of the Association. Numbers 102-113 designate the 12 nonuniversity members.

ANALYSIS OF SELECTED VARIABLES OF UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

The percentages and ratios below are intended to summarize the basic data in the ARL Library Data Tables. The high, median, and low figures indicate the range as well as the midpoint for ARL's 101 university library members.

	Category	High	Median	Low
1.	Professional Staff as percent of Total Staff	36	25	14
2.	Nonprofessional Staff as percent of Total Staff	73	52	19
3.	Student Assistant Staff as percent of Total Staff	57	22	6
4.	Ratio of Professional to Non-professional Staff (excluding student assistants)	1.2:1	0.5:1	0.2:1
5.	Ratio of Items Loaned to Items Borrowed	28.6:1	2.4:1	0.6:1
6.	Materials Expenditures as percent of Total Operating Expenditures	45	31	21
7.	Serials Expenditures as percent of Materials Expenditures	87	56	33
8.	Salary and Wage Expenditures as percent of Total Operating Expenditures	70	55	34
9.	Ratio of Salary and Wage Expenditures to Materials Expenditures	3.3:1	1.7:1	1:1

Median figures are useful indicators when there is wide dispersion within a distribution. Because the mean represents a "balance point," a few very high or low scores may sometimes pull the mean away from the actual point at which values cluster. Medians, on the other hand, are a measure of central tendency, focusing on the midpoint in a distribution, and are thus preferable for describing ARL libraries.

THE ARL LIBRARY INDEX*

The data tables at the beginning of the ARL Statistics display figures reported by ARL member libraries in 22 categories that, with the exception of the measures of interlibrary loan activity, describe the size of ARL libraries in terms of holdings, expenditures, and personnel. The rank order tables provide an overview of the ranges and medians for 14 of these categories, or variables, among ARL academic libraries, as well as quantitatively comparing each library with other ARL member institutions. However, no one of the 22 variables provides a summary measure of a library's relative size within ARL or characterizes the ARL libraries as a whole.

The ARL Library Index has been derived as a means of providing this summary characterization, permitting quantitative comparisons of ARL academic libraries, singly and as a group, with other academic libraries. Through the use of statistical techniques known as factor analysis, it can be determined that 15 of the variables reported to ARL are more closely correlated with each other than with other categories. Within this group of 15 variables, some are subsets or combinations of others, e.g. expenditures for serials are a subset of expenditures for library materials. When the subsets and combinations are eliminated, ten variables emerge as characteristic of ARL library size. These are: volumes held, volumes added (gross), microform units held, current serials received, expenditures for library materials, expenditures for binding, total salary and wage expenditures, other operating expenditures, number of professional staff, and number of nonprofessional staff.

These ten categories delineate an underlying dimension, or factor, of library size. By means of principal component analysis, a technique that is a variant of factor analysis, it is possible to calculate the correlations of each of the variables with this hypothetical factor of library size. From this analysis, a weight for each variable can be determined based upon how closely that variable is correlated with the overall dimension of library size defined by all ten categories. A high correlation indicates that much of the variation in ARL library size is accounted for by the variable in question, implying a characteristic in which ARL libraries are relatively alike. The component score coefficients, or weights, for the 1981-82 ARL academic library data are:

Volumes held	.12561
Volumes added (gross)	.12167
Microforms held	.07523
Current serials received	.12565
Expenditures for library materials	.12778
Expenditures for binding	.10719
Expenditures for salaries and wages	.13014
Other operating expenditures	.09949
Number of professional staff	.12962
Number of nonprofessional staff	.12112

*For a full description of the index see Kendon Stubbs, The ARL Library Index and Quantitative Relationships in the ARL (Washington, D.C.: ARL, 1980).

From these weights an individual library can compute an index score that will indicate its relative position among ARL libraries with respect to the overall factor of library size. The data for each of the ten variables are converted to standard normal form and multiplied by the appropriate weight. The resulting scores are expressed in terms of the number of standard deviations above or below the mean index score for ARL academic libraries. Thus the formula* for calculating a library's 1981-82 index score is:

.12561 (log of volumes held - 6.3132)/.2141
+ .12167 (log of volumes added gross - 4.8105)/.2054
+ .07523 (log of microforms - 6.1665)/.1749
+ .12565 (log of current serials - 4.3596)/.2299
+ .12773 (log of expenditures for materials - 6.3204)/.1595
+ .10719 (log of expenditures for binding - 5.0947)/.2439
+ .13014 (log of total salaries - 6.5548)/.2058
+ .09949 (log of operating expenditures - 5.8119)/.2494
+ .12962 (log of professional staff - 1.8323/.1865
+ .12112 (log of nonprofessional staff - 2.1507)/.1990

The index scores for the 101 academic libraries that were members of ARL during 1981-82 are shown on the following page. It is important to emphasize that these scores are only a summary description of library size, distributing ARL libraries along a normal curve, based on ten quantitative measures that are positively correlated with one another in ARL libraries. The scores are in no way a qualitative assessment of the collections, services, or operations of these libraries.

*For calculation on a hand calculator, the formula can be mathematically simplified to:

.58669 x log of volumes held
+ .59236 x log of volumes added gross
+ .43013 x log of microforms
+ .54654 x log of current serials
+ .80113 x log of expenditures for materials
+ .43948 x log of expenditures for binding
+ .63236 x log of total salaries
+ .39892 x log of operating expenditures
+ .69501 x log of professional staff
+ .60864 x log of nonprofessional staff

SUMMARY OF RANK ORDER TABLES FOR UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

The table below presents the rank for each university library in each of the fourteen categories for which rank order tables are prepared. As a further indication of the relative position of each institution, note that, in the individual rank order tables on the following pages, "group codes" are used. This is done because, in a number of cases, there is a relatively insignificant difference between two institutions which are nevertheless given two different rankings. The "coarser" ranking provided by clustering institutions into groups (based upon ranges) more realistically describes a library's relative standing.

The table numbers in the chart below refer to the following categories:

RANK ORDER TABLE 14: CURRENT SERIALS EXPENDITURES

The grouping of institutions below is done because, in a number of cases, there is a relatively insignificant difference between two institutions, which are nevertheless given two different rankings. In order to provide a "coarser" ranking, the institutions are thus clustered into groups according to the ranges specified here.

Group ranges (in thousands) are:

1-	2,200 and over	6-	1,200-1,399
2-	2,000-2,199	7-	1,000-1,199

ARL STATISTICS 1981-82

Instructions for Completion of the Questionnaire

1. Definitions of the statistical categories used in this questionnaire can be found in Library Statistics: A Handbook of Concepts, Definitions and Terminology (Chicago: American Library Association, 1966).

2. All figures should be rounded to the nearest whole number.

3. In a university which includes both main and branch campuses, an effort should be made to report figures for the main campus only. (The U.S. National Center for Education Statistics in its Higher Education General Information Survey describes a branch campus as one "located in a community different from that of its parent institution ... beyond a reasonable commuting distance from the main campus ... The educational activities at the location must be organized on a relatively permanent basis ... and include course offerings for one or more complete college-level programs of at least one full year.") If figures for libraries located on branch campuses are reported, please provide an explanatory footnote on p. 3 of the questionnaire.

4. Questions 1-5. Use the ALA definition for "Volume" as noted in instruction 1 above. Include duplicates and bound volumes of periodicals. Exclude microforms, nonprint materials, uncataloged items, and government documents unless cataloged. (Government document volumes classed separately may be included if cataloged.) If any of these items must be included, please provide an explanatory footnote on p. 3 of the questionnaire.

5. Question 6. Include duplicate subscriptions and government document serials. Because of the number of questions raised regarding the counting of serials, we call to your attention the definition to be used for this survey.

   > Publications constituting one issue in a continuous series under the same title published at regular or irregular intervals, over an indefinite period, individual issues in the series being numbered consecutively or each issue being dated. Newspapers as well as publications appearing annually or less frequently are included in the definition.

6. Questions 12-15 - Personnel. Report the number of staff in filled positions, or positions which are only temporarily vacant. Include staff hired for special projects and grants, but provide an explanatory footnote indicating the number of such staff on p. 3 of the questionnaire. The number of FTE staff should be determined on the basis of the length of the work week in the reporting library. Round figures to the nearest whole numbers.

7. Question 12. Since the criteria for determining professional status vary among libraries, there is no attempt to define the term "professional." Each library should report those staff members it considers professional, including, when appropriate, staff who are not librarians in the strict sense of the term, such as computer experts, systems analysts, budget officers, etc.

8. Questions 18-26 - Expenditures. Report all expenditures, regardless of whether the funds come from the regular library budget or from special funds, such as research grants. When special project or grant funds are included, please provide a footnote indicating the amount of such funds on p. 3 of the questionnaire. Include federal funds for work study students.

   Canadian libraries should report expenditures in both Canadian and U.S. dollars. To determine figures in U.S. dollars, divide Canadian dollar amounts by 1.2143, the average monthly noon exchange rate published in the Bank of Canada Review for the period July 1981 - June 1982.

9. Question 22. Exclude fringe benefits.

10. Question 23. Report net expenditures after any cost recovery. Exclude expenditures for buildings and maintenance.

11. Question 25. U.S. libraries should use the figure reported to the Department of Education on the form entitled, "Higher Education General Information Survey, Financial Statistics ... Fiscal Year Ending 1982," designated as NCES Form 2300-4. The figure needed is from Part B, line 12 of the HEGIS form.

12. Questions 27-28 - Ph.D. Degrees. Please note that only the number of Ph.D. degrees are to be counted. Statistics on all other advanced degrees (e.g., D.Ed., D.P.A., M.D., J.D.) are not required for this survey. If you are unable to provide a figure for Ph.D.s only, please note this in a footnote on p. 3 of the questionnaire.

13. Question 28. For the purposes of this report, Ph.D. fields are equivalent to the several hundred specific discipline specialties enumerated in the form used by the U.S. Department of Education entitled, "Higher Education General Information Survey, Degrees . . . Conferred," designated as NCES Form 2300-2.1A. Although the HEGIS form requests figures for all doctoral degrees, only fields in which Ph.D.s are awarded should be reported on the ARL questionnaire. Any exceptions should be noted in a footnote on p. 3 of the questionnaire.

14. Questions 29-32 - Enrollment. U.S. libraries should use figures reported to the Department of Education on the form entitled "Higher Education General Information Survey, Fall Enrollment and Compliance Report . . . 1981," designated as NCES Form 2300-2.3A. The line and column numbers on the HEGIS form for each category are noted on the questionnaire.

15. Reporting libraries are urged to record in the footnote section any information that would clarify the figures submitted, e.g., the inclusion of branch campus libraries. Explanatory footnotes will be included with the published statistics.
